THE HISTORY OF KAHRAMANMARAS' ICE CREAM

What makes Kahramanmaraş Ice Cream are the milk with a unique consistency and aroma of goats fed with flowers such as thyme, milk thistle, hyacinth and crocus, which are unique to this region on the high slopes of Ahir Mountain surrounding Maraş. In addition, the miraculous sahelep obtained from the tubers of wild orchid flowers that sprout from the soil with extraordinary generosity, gives Maraş Ice Cream a flavor, aroma and consistency that is impossible to imitate.

This ice cream is a miracle of Ahir Mountain and the people of it. "Karsambaç" was obtained by mixing the layers of snow protected by covering the mountains, slopes and valleys with brushwood with fruit essences on hot summer days. This mixture was enriched with additives such as milk, honey, molasses and sahelep over time and underwent other changes, turning into the unique flavor that we know today.

The secret behind the flavor of Maraş Ice Cream lies in the treats and geography where it is produced, in addition to this 300-year-old tradition. This unique flavor is obtained by mixing the milk of goats fed with thyme, marshmallow and wild orchid flowers on the high plateaus on the slopes of Ahir Mountain with sahelep collected from the same region. Maraş Ice Cream, which has won the appreciation of the public with its low volume expansion, unique pleasant taste, smell and aroma, hard flexible structure, light chewing, homogeneous bright white color, resistance to melting and long-term preservation of its qualities at low temperatures (22°C), has a special place in Türkiye and world.

This extraordinary dairy product has become synonymous with the city's name, becoming its symbol and gaining an important place in Turkish food culture.
